There is a voice within each of us calling us to better and higher things. So as we leave Philomath High School we realize the years spent here were never wasted. We've grown together, we've fallen together, but best of all we've strived together.

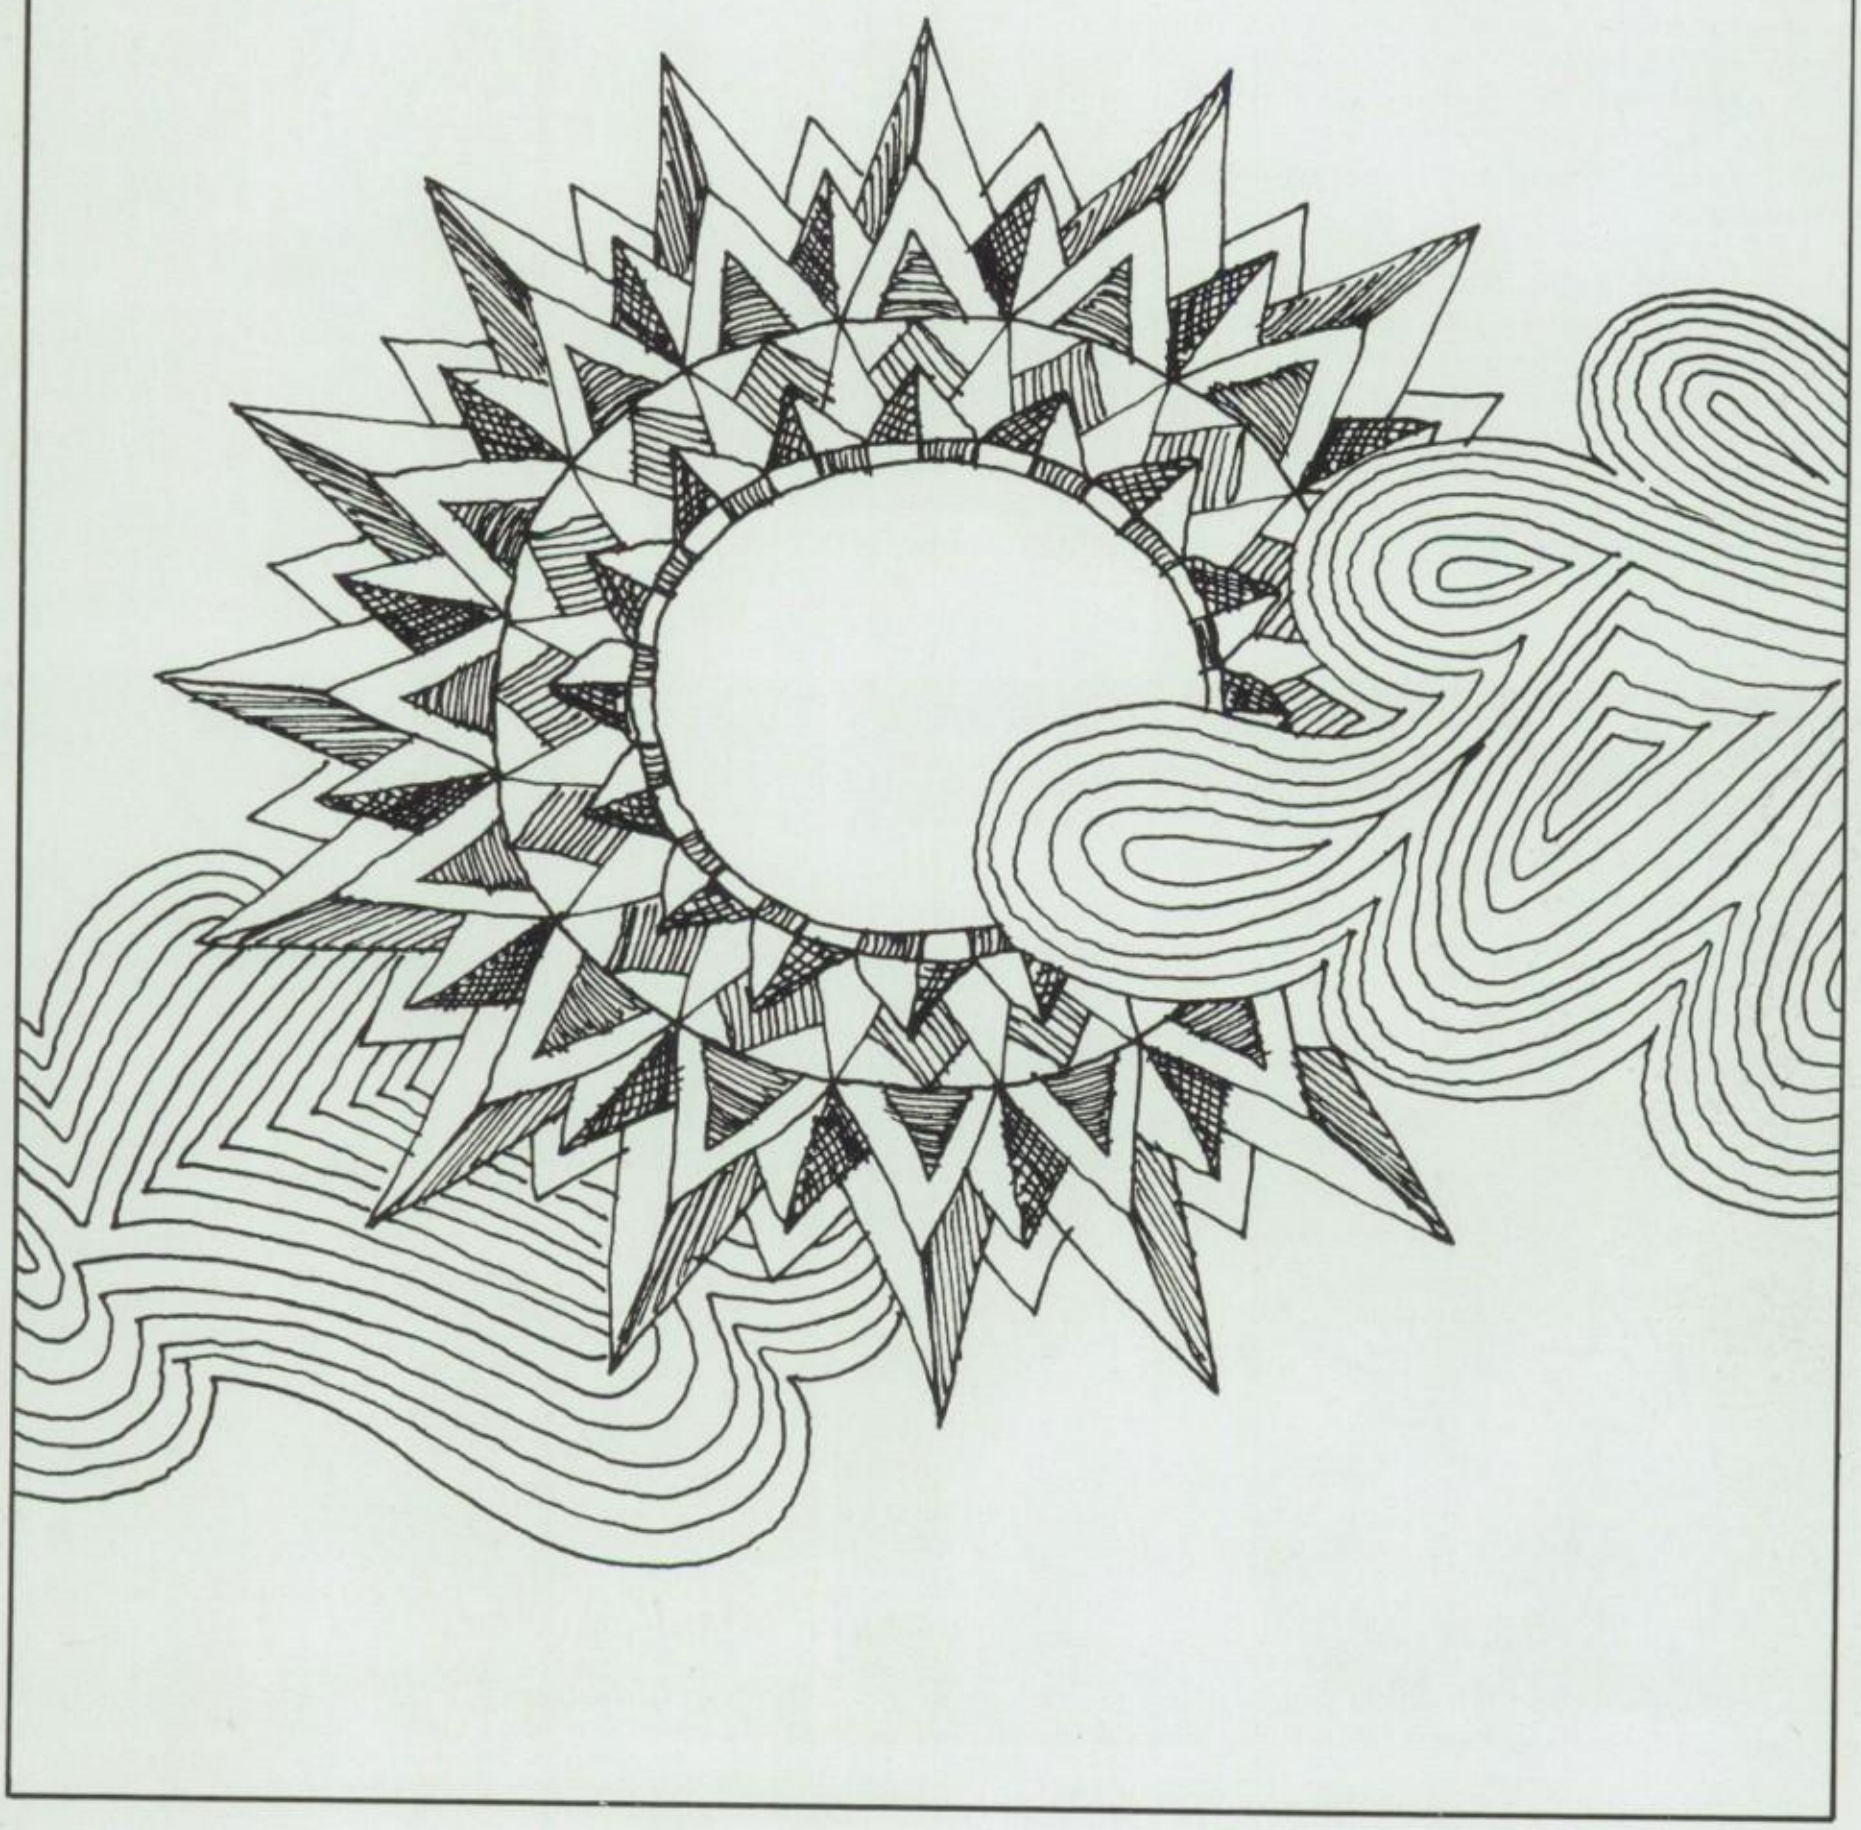
Student Life



Homecoming this year proved to be the best one yet. The theme was "Indian Reservation." It began with Spirit Week. Monday was Hat Day. The noon activity was pyramid building which the Juniors won for the third year in a row. The next day was 50's Day with a dance contest at noon. The Sophomores won this hands down. Next in line was Celebrity Day. The noon activity was a football relay, with the Juniors proving to be the quickest dressers (and undressers.) Thursday was Twin Day, with the annual semi-finals of the Annual Homecoming tug-of-war at noon. The Juniors and Seniors each won their noon bout. They would pull against each other that night at the rally. Thursday night was a very busy night. First in line was the Talent Show with the students of Philomath proving to be very talented. Their talents ranged from serious singers to imitations of Elvis Presley and the Supremes. The skits were also done that night. The winners of the Talent Show were Rhonda Flatz and Cheri Spencer with a flaming baton act. Second place was "The Supremes," and third was Peg Maddux singing a song she composed herself titled "In My Mind." After the Talent Show the court was introduced and the queen was crowned. This year's Homecoming queen was Kim Doney. After the coronation everyone went out to the track for the finals of the tug-of-war. The Seniors won for a perfect streat of four years in a row. The next day was Friday which was Black and Gold Day in the spirit of PHS. Through the week the Seniors showed their spirit daily by winning every dress up day.

On Friday afternoon was the assembly. The court was introduced. Then in came the Mock court. The winners were the Frosh with Darrel Belcher and Cathy Barkdoll. In the "Kiss the Pig" contest, Coach Turner ended up the lucky one. The Sophomores won the competition yell and Juniors won the confetti contest. Then everyone went outside for the noise parade. The princesses rode on their floats and everyone else rode on fire trucks, cars, etc. The parade went down main street and ended at D & D Market.

That night at the game Philomath suffered a disappointing loss, 20-21, to Marist. In spite of this loss the dance was still a big success with one of the largest turnouts ever. Over 300 people came to dance to the music of "Sapphire."
